

International credit mobility (Erasmus+ Key Action 1: Learning mobility of Individuals)

What is it?

For over 25 years, Europe has funded the Erasmus programme, which has enabled over three million European students to spend part of their studies in another higher education institution elsewhere in Europe. Erasmus+ now opens up these opportunities, allowing for mobility from other parts of the world to "Programme Countries", and for outgoing mobility for European students to go to "Partner Countries".

Programme Countries	28 EU Member States + Iceland, Liechtenstein, Norway, the former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia, Turkey
Partner Countries	All other countries worldwide ¹

Credit mobility can be defined as a limited period of study or traineeship abroad (in the framework of on-going studies at a home institution) for the purpose of gaining credits. After the mobility phase, students return to their home institution, where the credits are recognised and they complete their studies.

How does it work?

Students and doctoral candidates are able to study abroad for a period of three months (or one academic term or trimester), up to a maximum of 12 months in each study cycle and may benefit from an Erasmus+ grant. Staff can spend a teaching and/or training period abroad from five days (excluding travel) to a maximum of two months and may also benefit from a grant. The grant for staff may provide funding for two additional days of travel (one before and one after the mobility).

In order for the mobility to happen, a HEI in a Programme Country must sign an inter-institutional agreement with a HEI in a Partner Country. Under this agreement, it can host students, doctoral candidates or staff from the Partner-Country HEI, and can also send students, doctoral candidates or staff to the Partner-Country HEI. In the agreement, the sending and receiving institutions agree on the range of courses open to visiting students and on the options for staff mobility. These agreements make sure that the sending institution will recognise the credits gained by its students for successfully completed activities abroad, which will contribute to the student's degree once they return. Programme-Country HEIs require an Erasmus Charter for Higher Education to apply and take part; by signing the inter-institutional agreement, Partner-Country HEIs agree to adhere to these principles.

How is it funded?

Each Erasmus+ National Agency established in a Programme Country has a budget to fund a number of mobility projects between HEIs in that Programme Country and those in Partner Countries. Institutions from Programme Countries can apply to their National Agency to organise projects with HEIs in one or more Partner Countries. The National Agency will award the successful HEIs a grant to cover the mobility of a number of students and staff. This grant will cover the cost of the individual grants and also include a portion for organisational support.

¹ For budgetary reasons, credit mobility agreements are not possible with certain countries: Iran, Iraq, Yemen, and the countries of the Gulf Cooperation Council. For 2015, they are not possible with the ACP (Africa, Caribbean and Pacific) States, though this will be possible in the 2016 selection onwards. International mobility for traineeships will not be possible under projects selected in 2015. Switzerland, Andorra, Monaco, San Marino and the Vatican City State are not covered by this action.

For individuals

Students and doctoral candidates from Partner Countries may receive a monthly contribution to their expenses abroad of between EUR 750, EUR 800 or EUR 850 (depending on the cost of living in the Programme Country: see the Erasmus+ Programme Guide). For students and doctoral candidates going to Partner Countries from Programme Countries, the rate is EUR 650 per month for all Partner Countries. Staff coming from Partner Countries may get a daily contribution to their expenses of between EUR 100 and EUR 160 (depending on the cost of living in the Programme Country: see Programme Guide). Staff from Programme Countries going to Partner Countries will get EUR 160 per day.

Distance	Travel contribution
100-499 km	EUR 180
500-1999 km	EUR 275
2 000-2 999 km	EUR 360
3 000-3 999 km	EUR 530
4 000-7 999 km	EUR 820
≥8 000 km	EUR 1100

Each selected individual participant will get a travel contribution based on the distance from the sending to the receiving institution.

For institutions

The mobility project grant will include a contribution of EUR 350 per mobile participant in order to offset the costs to the institution of organising the mobility project.

2015 Call for Proposals: budget for all Programme Countries

In the 2015 Call for Proposals, EUR 121 million is shared between the 33 Programme Countries for mobility with 10 regions throughout the world (the Programme Guide lists the countries per region). The numbers in the chart give an indication of the total number of mobility grants for that region for international credit mobility projects selected in 2015 (based on a typical six-month mobility period for a student).

How can a higher education institution apply?

Only HEIs from Programme Countries may submit an application to manage a project for mobility between Programme and Partner Countries. This application process is separate from the application process for 'intra-European' mobility, i.e. between two Programme Countries. The deadline for the 2015 Call for Proposals is 4 March 2015.

An application for international credit mobility will cover mobility for higher education students, doctoral candidates and staff. Applicants will provide information for each of the regions covered by the Call for Proposals with which they wish to work, and give an indication of the HEI(s) which they propose to involve.

The application will be assessed according to the four award criteria published in the Erasmus+ Programme Guide (page 40), focusing on relevance of the strategy, quality of the cooperation arrangements, quality of the design and implementation and impact and dissemination.

For budgetary reasons, a National Agency may decide to set specific criteria for certain regions, such as limiting access to certain degree levels, choosing to focus on staff rather than student mobility (or vice versa), or setting a limit to the duration of mobility.
